Colored School Fair.

In compliance with a request from Dr. F. C. Button, of the Department of Education and Supervisor for the colored schools of the State, we have arranged to have an exhibit or school fair on the 10th of March. In this, general school work, domestic science and art, manual training, general and industrial work will be exhibited.

Every colored school in the county is requested to make some sort of exhibit at this time. Christian county receives from outside sources, more money for industrial work than any other county in the State and I am sure that the county will want to show to Dr. Button, who will be here to inspect the work in person, how much they appreciate this aid and also by a magnificent display, show to him their gratitude for his personal interest in the work in this county.

Mrs. Hattie Head, Mrs. Mollie Poston and Prof. W. C. Davis will be in charge of this exhibit and any further information in regard to the matter may be obtained from them.

Definite announcement will be made in a few days as to the building in which the display will be held.

REJECTS THE CREATION THEORY

Unitarian Minister Say Evolution Is More God-like.

Nashville, Tenn., Feb. 11.—The third of the series of meetings being held this week in the loggia of the Hotel Hermitage, under the auspices of the American Unitarian association, occurred Wednesday evening.

Rev. Maxwell Savage, pastor of the First Unitarian church, of Louisville, Ky., was the principal speaker. Mr. Savage is the son of Dr. Minot J. Savage, a pulpit orator of national fame, who held pastoral charges in New York City for years. The distinguished speaker took for his topic, "Evolution—What Is It?" and said in part:

"If you will go back a certain number of millions of years you reach a time when there was no life on this planet. How the first germs of life appeared here nobody knows, though life seems to be inherent in what we call 'matter.' But we do know that low types of life appeared first and gradually rose to higher and finer forms.

"The Christian world, up to the time of Darwin, held that the different species were suddenly created, one after another; that where there had been nothing, suddenly a species appeared. That sort of thing happens in 'Alice Through the Looking Glass,' but not in the real world.

"People content that the theory of evolution is not absolutely demonstrated. Note, however, that every competent scholar accepts it and it has all the evidence there is, while the 'creation' theory has no facts to support it.

"With man physical evolution stops, but spiritual, mental and moral evolution begins. We need to overcome the inherited tendency of looking back to 'once upon a time' for the perfect time. Rather, we should be looking ahead and working ahead toward it in the future.

"If you admit the old creation theory of Genesis then there can be no social or religious progress. Some say, 'But the 'creation' theory is so much grander!' In reply to that I might ask if the stork theory of babies is grander and more mysterious than the truth?

"The evolution theory bears out the truth of Paul's words, 'Now are we sons of God and it doth not yet appear what we shall be.'

"The question is, 'What method has God followed?' The creation method which is one of myth and mistiness, childish, lawless and full of magic, or the evolutionary method, which is one of facts and mystery, manly, lawful and Godlike? It gives you a theory on account of which and not in spite of which you can live your daily life in accord with knowledge. It gives you a vaster and finer conception of God, a more cheerful and higher idea of the destiny of man and a larger theater for living."

HOW THE GOVERNMENT IS MEETING WITH MALARIA.

Four per cent. of the inhabitants of certain sections of the South have malaria. This estimate, based on the reporting of 204,881 cases during 1914, has led the United States Public Health Service to give increased attention to malaria problem, according to the annual report of the Surgeon General. Of 13,526 blood specimens examined by Government officers during the year, 1,797 showed malarial infection. The infection rate among white persons was above eight per cent. and among colored persons twenty per cent. In two counties in the Yazoo Valley, 40 out of every 100 inhabitants presented evidence of the disease.

Striking as the above figures are they are no more remarkable than those relating to the reduction in the incidence of the disease following surveys of the Public Health Service at 34 places in nearly every state of the South. In some instances from an incidence of fifteen per cent. in 1914, a reduction has been accomplished to less than four or five per cent. in 1915.

One of the important scientific discoveries made during the year was in regard to the continuance of the disease from season to season. Over 2,000 Anopheline mosquitoes in malarious districts were dissected, during the early Spring months, without finding a single insect, and not until May 15, 1915, was the first parasite in the body of a mosquito discovered. The Public Health Service, therefore, concludes that mosquitoes in the latitude of the Southern States ordinarily do not carry the infection through the winter. This discovery indicates that protection from malaria may be secured by treating human carriers with quinine previous to the middle of May, thus preventing any infection from chronic sufferers reaching mosquitoes and being transmitted by them to other persons.

Although quinine remains the best means of treating malaria and is also of marked benefit in preventing infection, the eradication of the disease as a whole rests upon the destruction of the breeding places of Anopheline mosquitoes. The Public Health Service, therefore, is urging a definite campaign of draining standing water, the filling of low places, and the regrading and training of streams where malarial mosquitoes breed. The oiling of breeding places, and the stocking of streams with top-feeding minnows, are further recommended. The Service also gives advice regarding screening, and other preventative measures as a part of the educational campaigns conducted in sections of infected territory.

This study is typical of the scientific investigations which are being carried out by the Public Health Service, all of which have a direct bearing on eradicating the disease. The malaria work now includes the collection of morbidity data, malaria surveys, demonstration work, scientific field and laboratory studies, educational campaigns, and special studies of impounded water and drainage projects.

NO BULB SHORTAGE DESPITE THE WAR.

New York, Feb. 11.—Florists in the eastern states have learned how to cultivate azaleas and bulbs of lilies of the valley, so that the shortage of these plants, which was marked at Christmas time, due to the European war, will be largely overcome before Easter. This fact was made evident at the meeting of the New York Florists club held here to make arrangements for the national flower show to be held in Philadelphia from March 25 to April 2.

Resolutions.

In the home going of Mrs. S. G. Buckner the Woman's Missionary Society lost one of its most faithful and beloved members. From the organization of the Society in 1882 until her last illness, her interest in world-wide missions was unflinching. It was her delight to give money, time and labor to this cause, so dear to her heart. She was also greatly interested in training the young in missionary work, being the organizer and first leader of the Sunbeam Band.

Realizing that we have sustained a great loss in her death, Be it resolved: That we express our gratitude to God for sparing her many years, and bow in humble submission to His will in calling her away.

That we express our appreciation of her noble character and consecrated life and rejoice in the worthy example she has left us.

That we deeply sympathize with her children and lovingly commend them to "The Father of mercies and God of all comfort."

That these resolutions be recorded in the minutes, published in our papers and a copy sent to the family.
